Click here to swim along with the Pout-Pout Fish as he learns that being glum and spreading "dreary wearies" isn't his true destiny. Will his friends be able to cheer him up? Does his pout ever end? What lessons did you learn while reading the story?

Mr. Fish has a constant pout on his face. He always seems sad and frowning. Various sea creatures, such as octopuses, clams, and others, tell him to smile and be happy, but the Pout-Pout Fish insists that this is just the way he is. Suddenly, his frown turns upside down when he meets a shimmering silver fish, and from that moment on, Mr. Fish is no longer a Pout-Pout Fish.
