

Pre-k Choice Board

Listening

In his pursuit of finding his unique color, the chameleon embarks on a journey. Click here to listen to "A Color of His Own."

 Why did the chameleon desire a color of his own? (Answer: The chameleon wanted to have his unique color, just like the other animals. However, his color continuously changed! He turned red with the fall leaves and black with the dark winter.)

Listening

Have you ever wondered what it's like to run for president? Click here to listen to the story "If I Ran for President" to gain some insight.

 If someone were to run for president, it might be exciting to travel around the country and meet lots of new people, and to do fun activities like sharing a bowl of cereal with kindergartners.

Speaking

Click here to weigh different objects. Share your findings with a family member by describing which objects you weighed and how much each one weighs.

 "First, I weighed the turtle, which weighed 24 pounds. I used one ten-pound weight and four one-pound weights. Next, I weighed a dog...."

Speaking

Click here to create your very own pizza! Share your pizza creation with a family member by describing the toppings you chose for your delicious masterpiece.

 "I only like a little bit of tomato sauce. I used mushrooms, green peppers, cheese, and fresh mozzarella cheese for my pizza toppings."