BENEFITS OF WORKING

Working can help students learn about the relationship between education and earnings, and the value of money. It can also teach students how to budget and manage their time. Marquavious Harris works after school.

Dolores Barfield's Pre Vet students created cards for Smooches, Alan Mitchell's pet who recently passed. Pets can teach us many things, including empathy. Losing a pet can be tough, even for other pets. The Mitchells lost a member of their family and Gateway students were there to help them grieve.

Congratulations to Marissa Ingram, a current volunteer at Gateway STEM, but also an alum! She received her Master's in psychology with emphasis in Life Coaching from Grand Canyon University with a 3.9 GPA.

She is set to begin a Mental Health Counseling Program at Bradley University in the summer of 2025.

Marissa is the daughter of Sharon Ingram, Gateway's Book Clerk and Dance team coach.

ALUMNI Class of 2012

ESPORTS

High school ESPORTS offers students an opportunity to develop strategic thinking and problem-solving. It can also provide a sense of belonging, helping them connect with other students who share similar interests. ESPORTS Coach Nicholas Todd, Joshua Parish, and Joseph Schramm received brand new Nintendo Switches. They are seen above.

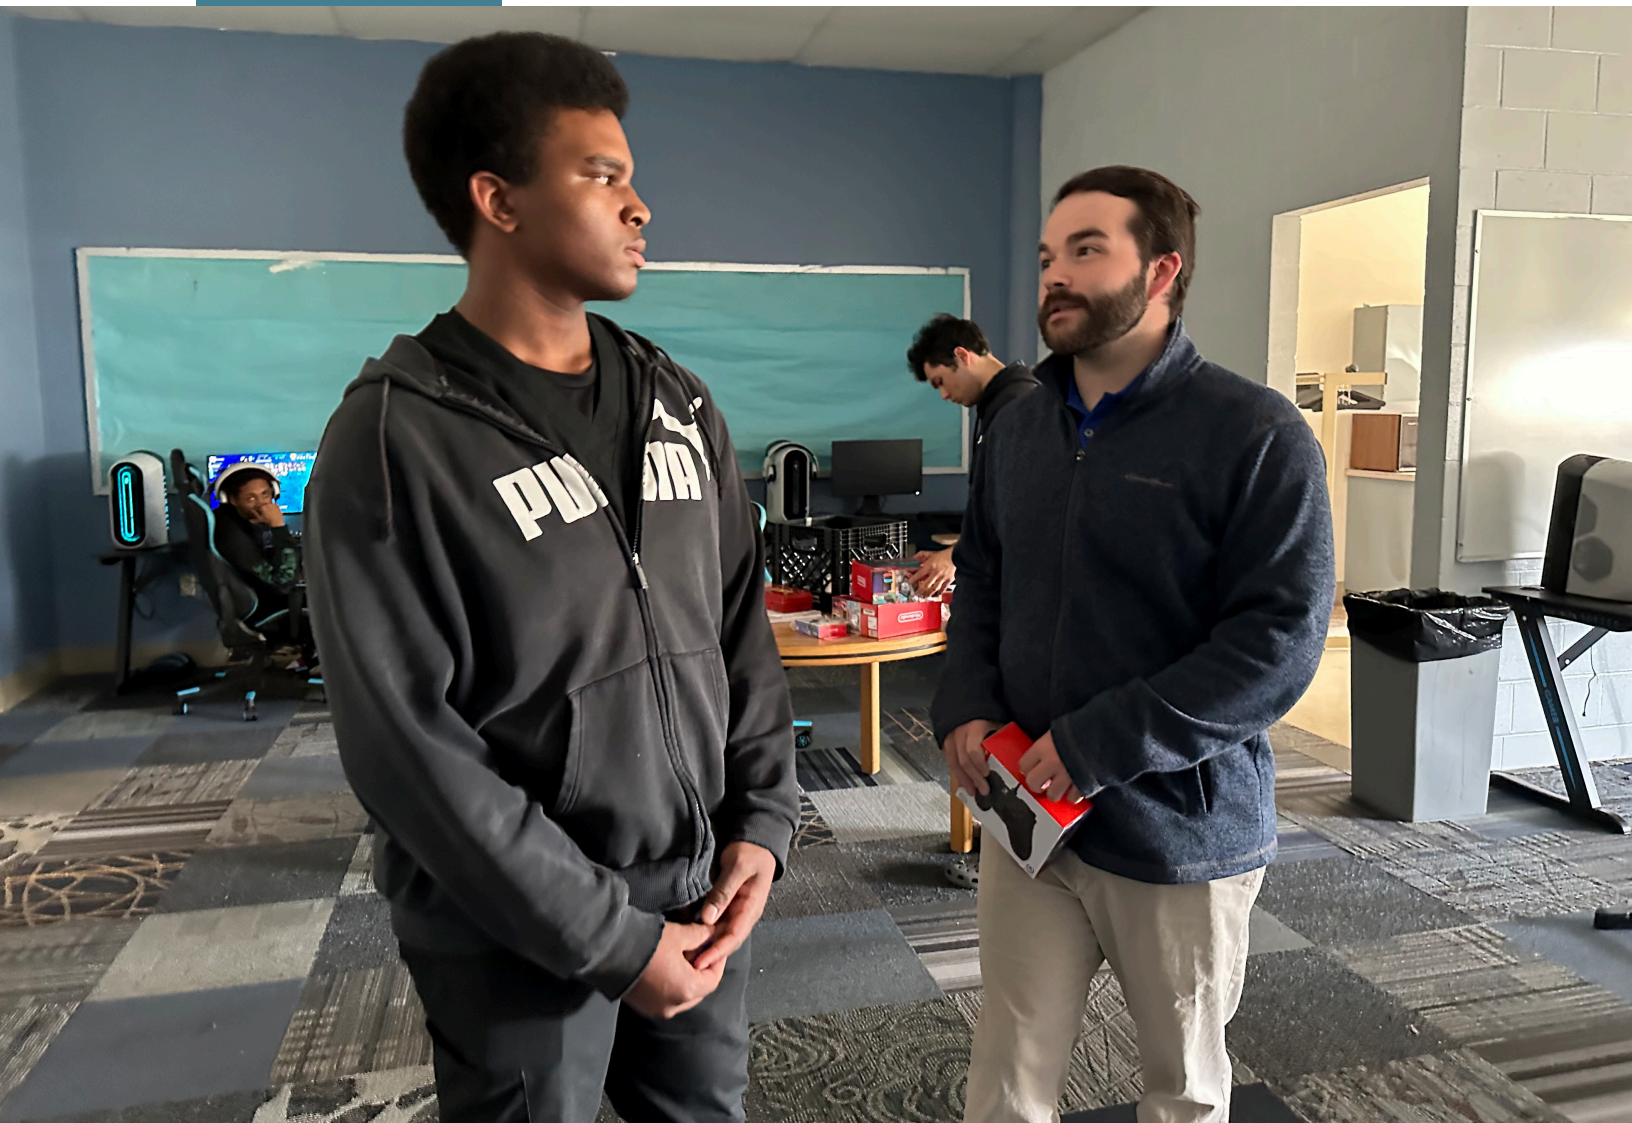

All ESPORT photos are by Colette Morton.
