Trip to Mizzou

Gateway team stopped at the University of Missouri before their game in Boonville, MO and were taken on a tour of the facilities by Mizzou Director of Player Relations and former NFL player Atiyah Ellison.

They not only got a tour of the facilities but received some words of wisdom on what it takes to be a college athlete and the work it takes to get to the next level on and off the football field.

Seniors in Ms. Tate's Math Apps class started the year learning to work with others in groups and refreshing their algebra and Geometry skills? They were tasked with completed a futuristic theme park on paper. They had to analyze how many different items (rides, ships, café's, restrooms, etc,) they could put in their park without going over budget. After working through these figures, they had to decide where to place their items within their park. Once the park was completed, the groups filled out a monthly profit and loss statement. When this was done, the students decided what type of advertising they wanted in order to promote their park. They worked on completing radio ads, flyers, and poster to accomplish this. The final step was to present their park to their fellow classmates.

The final projects will be posted on the wall outside room 326 E if anyone would like to see the finished project.

Next up for them is learning measurements. They will learn how to read and properly use a ruler.
